I'd love to float upon a cloud
So soft, so soft, so white, so white;
Such comfort I would find in this
And know that it would bring delight.

When come sad days, I'll need big smiles
From friends of mine who truly care;
Should there be rain on stormy days,
Rainbows I'll view without compare.

To lift my spirits, urge me on,
Comes sunrise gold of brand-new day;
Then bides the softness of the night
When my true faith shall guide my way.

I know God gives me confidence,
Ample courage to forge ahead;
Belief in Him, my Solid Rock,
My life complete as I am led.
