

In Anticipation Of

Quite often I'm led to wonder
What God must expect of me;
Should I fear as I approach Him,
Or stand back and let things be?

I know I should try to please Him,
Live my life as He demands;
And I know that I should love Him
And serve Him with helping hands.

With heart and soul, I should praise Him,
And thank Him for every day;
His Commands I should listen to,
And surely each one obey.

Indeed, my goal to find true peace
With Him . . . His Way I must go;
I'll follow, love . . . Proudly serve Him,
His Promise He'll then bestow.

Henry W. Gurley