

A Day of Reckoning

Soon comes a day of reckoning
When each act, each deed that I've done
Will be reviewed, duly assessed,
By my Lord and Master, The One.

For years and years, He's forgiven
Every misstep along the way.
My outcome ever before me
With His Gift of another day.

To be in His August Presence,
To know for sure He truly cares,
To know that He's always loved me
Bring me more blessings that He shares.

As day of reckoning draws near,
I own no doubt; I have no fear.

Henry W. Gurley